“ I am a classmate of the St John's Class of '63. Ricky and I started First Grade together and were in the same class until he had to move after our Sophomore year in high school. All us classmates have a lot of happy and fun memories of Ricky. It seems now like we spent all our time trying to make each other laugh, and we succeeded many times. We were so glad he came to our 30 year reunion. Several of us stayed up all night and went to breakfast the next morning, because we didn't want to part again. For our 50th year we made a Memory Book of all our school years together, and Rick;s picture is in it several times. I will always think of him fondly, and our class speaks of him fondly when we get together. -Jane Strange Hunter. SJS Class of '63.

“ Rick was a great guy that i was lucky to know since i was a teenager and friends with Angie. Then my son and Angie's son were good friends and my son spent many weekends hanging out at Rick and Bevs . I enjoyed talking with him and as we got older and I didnt see him as much i would always ask about him. When i did get to see him these past few years it was like old times always smiling and always happy and a die hard cubs fan. You will be missed Rick but you have no pain or suffering. 1 last thing I remember you driving me and Angie in that silver trans am with ttops out to state park going well over the speed limit . We had a blast.

“ Being a CNA have teach me so many things, one of the those things is that even though we provide care for complete strangers they can become our family. It is not only a job , it is the joy of going back to work to see your resident's smile . Today a special angel passed away, someone who was a complete stranger became somebody so important to me . I will miss passing coffee in the morning and telling him about my weekend , I will miss going into his room to have long conversations, I will miss the stories of the way he met his wife , I will miss the advise that he will give me after telling him about my problems , I will miss being asked for a hug after coming back to work from a long weekend , I will miss his smile, I will miss messing with him every time I used to see hm around the hallway, I will miss him calling me "kiddo" I will miss calling him "grandpa Charles " I will miss his laugh. Thank you for everything and I will always admire and remember you, RIP Grandpa Charles 🙏??
