“ My heart breaks for the family . Deb was a kind person and always had a smile on her face !! She was always a person you could just start a conversation with at anytime . I’m so glad I got to get to know her working with her at Shepard and a little bit at Levasseur.

“ Debbie, I will forever love and respect you! I enjoyed the few short years we worked together everyday at Shepard School. You will be missed beyond words!! I enjoyed all our talks of grandkids and sharing of pictures. You were one proud Gramma! You would light up talking about your grown sons and their kids! You are a precious jewel and I pray I meet you in heaven one day!!❤️

“ Always loved Debbie's warm and beautiful smile (just look at those dimples) wherever we saw her, at her parents' home when we'd make a visit and she'd drop by, when we'd visit her and Coleman on occasion (now we realize those were too few), a family memorial occasion, or other circumstance. Of course, I remember the day in the Joliet home when it was my honor to "tie the knot" when she and Coleman exchanged their vows of marriage. But one thing that really stands out is the devotion she always showed to her parents, especially in their latter years. Can't tell you how many times Peggy would tell of the tender care and consideration Deb showed her in her widowhood. "I don't know what I'd do without her," she'd say. And then that she and Coleman took her mom into their home. The Lord's instruction to children to "honor father and mother" does not apply only to youth. We cherish our memories of her. From our perspective, she was "a keeper". Her passing leaves a great void in many hearts. Uncle Norman and Aunt Berdyne
